Lesson 5: Punctuation

Punctuation is what we use in writing to help make our meaning clear. It tells readers when to stop, pause, ask questions, or show emotion.

Think of punctuation marks like road signs in writing — they help guide the reader!

Common punctuation marks include:

- Period (.): ends

  a statement: She went to the store.

  a command: Raise your hand if you know the answer.

- Question mark (?) ends

  a question: Are you coming?

- Exclamation mark (!) shows strong feeling: Watch out!

A. Directions: Read each sentence below. Write the correct punctuation mark that should go at the end: period (.), question mark (?), or exclamation mark(!).

1. Why didn't you tell me about the meeting ____
2. What an incredible performance ____
3. Please remember to submit your science project on Sunday ____
4. How did the explorer survive the harsh wilderness ____
5. Watch out for the falling branches ____
6. I can't believe we won the championship ____
7. The museum closes at 5 o'clock ____
8. Could you explain your answer again ____
9. Never touch a hot pan without an oven mitt____
10. What a beautiful sunset we watched this evening____

A comma is a punctuation mark that shows a pause in a sentence. It helps make writing clearer and easier to read.

When do we use commas?

1. To separate items in a list:

Use commas to list three or more things.
Ex: I packed a sandwich, juice, chips, and a cookie.

2. After an introductory word or phrase

When a sentence starts with a time word or transition, use a comma after it.

Ex: After dinner, we watched a movie.
Ex: First, mix the flour and sugar.

3. Separate clauses in compound sentences:

Ex: I was tired, but I finished my homework.
Ex: We can go to the park, or we can stay home.

4. Separates a phrase from the sentence:

Ex: After the movie, we went out for ice cream.
Ex: Before class, he sharpened his pencil.

B. Directions: Rewrite the following sentences by adding commas in the right places.

1. I bought apples oranges bananas and grapes.

2. Before lunch we went to the library.

3. I was tired but I finished my homework.

4. The baby cried but he quickly fell asleep.

Apostrophe (’)

Used for:

- Contractions (joining words): don’t = do not
- Possession: Sara’s book = the book belongs to Sara
  Ex: It’s time to go. / That’s Max’s bike.
- Quotation Marks (" ")
- Used to show what someone is saying.
  Ex: She said, "I love reading!"

C. Directions: Rewrite each sentence correctly by adding apostrophes (’) where needed.

1. I cant find my backpack.

2. Thats Johns bike.

3. She doesnt like broccoli.

4. Marias cat is very fluffy.

4. The teacher said Please sit down.

5. I whispered I'm really nervous.

Colon (:)

Used to introduce a list.

Example: I need these things: glue, paper, and scissors.

Semicolon (;)

A semicolon shows a bigger pause than a comma, but it doesn't end the sentence like a period does.

- A semicolon is used to join two closely related independent sentences without a conjunction.

Ex:
I love pizza; it's my favorite food.

(Both parts are complete sentences, but they're closely related.)

E. Directions: Rewrite each sentence and add a colon (:) in the correct place to introduce the list.

Lesson 6: Direct Speech

Direct speech is when we write or say the exact words someone spoke. We show these exact words using quotation marks **(" ").

Ex:

Sarah exclaimed, "I love ice cream."

These are Sarah's exact words, so we put them in quotation marks.

How to Punctuate Direct Speech:

1. Use quotation marks (“ ”) around the spoken words.
2. Use a comma before the opening quote if it comes after a reporting verb.
3. The first word of the speech starts with a capital letter.
4. The end punctuation (, - . - ! - ?) goes inside the quotation marks.

Ex:

He called, "Let's go to the park."
"Where is your bag?" the teacher asked.
"Hurry up!" my brother shouted.
"I'm ready for the trip," replied Mary.

Lesson 17: Question Tags

A question tag is a short question added to the end of a sentence.

We use it in speaking and writing to:

- Confirm something
- Check if something is true

Usage:

1. Use the correct helping verb from the sentence.

The tag must match the tense and the subject of the sentence.

Ex: They are my sunglasses, aren't they?

She bought a red bag, didn't she?

You will buy new books, won't you?

2. If the sentence is positive, the tag is negative.

Use the helping verb that goes with the main verb of the sentence and make the tag negative.

Underline the main verb in the sentence and think of its negative form.

Ex: i. She likes apples. → She doesn't like apples.

Now add the tag using the helping verb and the subject of the sentence.

➔ She likes apples, doesn't she?

ii. They are coming. → They aren't coming. ➔ They are coming, aren't they?

3. If the sentence is negative, the tag is positive.

Use the helping verb and make the tag positive and add the subject.

Underline the verb in the sentence and identify the helping verb.

Ex: i. She doesn't like apples. → The helping verb is "does".

Now add the tag using the helping verb and the subject.

➔ She doesn't like apples, does she?

ii. They aren't coming. → The helping verb is "are". ➔ They aren't coming, are they?
